Highlight Your Expertise with Sophos Digital Badges

We're excited to partner with Credly to bring you digital badges — a simple, professional way to showcase your Sophos certifications and celebrate your achievements.

WHAT IT IS

Earn a badge when you complete qualifying sales or technical certifications through the Sophos Partner Program, then share it with your network on LinkedIn, Facebook, X, and more. It's a great way to show your expertise — and it's easy to do.

For details on which certifications qualify, check the Sophos Partner Program Guide.

HOW TO ACCESS YOUR BADGE

Once you complete a qualifying certification, Credly will email you to let you know your badge is ready.

Important: Make sure your Credly account is set up with the same email address you use to log into the Sophos Partner Portal.

If it's your first time using Credly — or if you've been using a different email address we don't recognize — you'll be prompted to create a free account. Don't worry, it only takes a minute!

HOW TO ACCEPT AND SHARE

To share your badge on social media:

1. Log into Credly using the link in your email.
2. You'll see your badge, along with a description of what you earned.
3. Click the "Share" button to post it on LinkedIn, Facebook, X, or other platforms.
4. You may be asked to connect your social account so Credly can post for you.
